

The Irrigator

JULY 18 2018 - 11:44AM

SafeWork NSW investigating Euroley farm accident

Talia Pattison | Local News

Figure 1 The man was transported via air ambulance from Narrandera to Canberra Hospital.

SAFework NSW has confirmed it will be investigating a farm accident which resulted in a man being severely injured.

“SafeWork NSW is investigating after a 69-year-old man was injured at a rural property in Euroley on Monday,” a spokesman said.

“Initial inquiries indicate two men were loading polyethylene pipes onto the rear of a truck.

SafeWork NSW
@SafeWork_NSW

We responded to an incident near Griffith yesterday where an irrigation pipe has fallen from the back of a truck, landing on the head of a worker. He was airlifted to hospital. #SWIncidentAlert

12:30 PM - Jul 17, 2018

  See SafeWork NSW's other Tweets

“As they were securing the load, two sections of pipe fell from the trailer, striking the man and knocking him to the ground.

“He suffered severe head and chest injuries and was transported to Canberra Hospital by air ambulance.”

The man is believed to be in a stable condition in Canberra Hospital.

RELATED

Man critically injured at Euroley farm

While you're with us, you can now receive updates straight to your inbox every Friday at 6am from The Irrigator. To make sure you're up to date with all news in Leeton sign up here.